SCHOOL VISIT PRESENTATION DETAILS:

Matt has spoken to thousands of children in schools and libraries. He has also spoken at festivals such as the New York and San Diego Comic-Cons, and other educational conferences.

In his school visits, Matt goes into detail about his books, but he also tells students his story and how he came to write them. His career path includes some interesting detours at Columbia Pictures and MTV Networks.

Matt stresses the importance of believing in yourself, following your dreams, and never giving up—a recurring theme in his novels. His presentation includes artwork from his childhood, allowing students to see how his skills and characters have developed from their age to his.
